Devil's Claw Root Extract Powder against bid

Harvested in Africa - refined in Germany: The devil's claw root is rich in harpagosides. According to researchers, this ingredient is supposed to be responsible for an analgesic and anti-inflammatory effect. The dried raw material is processed by our cooperation partner in Southern Germany into a high-quality extract powder with a minimum content of 2% harpagosides (according to HPLC), taking into account the highest quality standards (GMP, HACCP).

Just before the year ends, we offer our customers the onetime opportunity to bid for our remaining stock of over 175 kg of dry extract. On request, we will be happy to send you batch-related samples including release documentation at any time. We are looking forward to your inquiry.

Special Item: Sage Extract Powder

Sage has been known for centuries for its antibacterial effect. The essential oil contained is meant to be responsible for it. However, there are studies which also promise an antibacterial effect for dry extracts, in which the proportion of essential oils is rather low. Mainly, Sage dry extracts are taken internally due to their antiperspirant effect.

At the moment we have almost 200 kg of Sage Leaves Extract Powder in original drums on stock, which can also be sold against a bid, just like our Devil's Claw Root Extract Powder.

Please feel free to contact us at any time (click here).
